

textbook p. 58/ no 2a "Dan and Jo's trip to Wales"

Top left: Dan and his dad are at the train station. They are talking. In the background there are lots of people. They are waiting for the train. It is probably very noisy.

Bottom left: There is a big blue river. In the background I can see a long bridge. Behind the bridge there is a tower. I think it's very quiet there.

Top right: The photo shows a beautiful village with a church. The houses look nice. In the foreground there are a river and a green field. In the background there are green hills and forests.

Bottom right: The photo shows a town. Houses and factories are in the foreground. There are some trees too. In the background there is another factory. I can't see any shops, cinemas or a lot of traffic, but I think they must be there.
